

ETHICAL VALUES IN HEALTH CARE: LESSONS FROM THE NAZI ERA

Monday-Thursday, Jan. 23-26, 1995

A special mini-course presented by the
University of Miami Forum for Bioethics and Philosophy

Michael J. Franzblau, M.D.
University of California, San Francisco

In response to the overwhelming reception for his presentation last year at the University of Miami School of Medicine, Dr. Franzblau will offer a short course addressing issues from the Nazi experience in light of contemporary developments in American medicine. Topics include racial hygiene, Nazi health and social policy, and human subjects research.

The course is open to UM students, faculty and staff and, by prior arrangement, other interested parties from the community. Participants will receive a reading packet and bibliography. Forum for Bioethics and Philosophy certificates of attendance will be available.

Schedule: All sessions are from noon to 1 p.m. Note the room numbers:

Monday, Jan. 23: RMSB 2013

Tuesday, Jan. 24: RMSB 2013

Wednesday, Jan. 25: RMSB 6018

Thursday, Jan. 26: RMSB 6018

For more information, call 547-5723 or send E-mail to kgoodman@newssun.med.miami.edu

Dr. Franzblau is Clinical Professor of Dermatology at the University of California School of Medicine in San Francisco and a lecturer in the Department of the History of Health Sciences. He is a guest lecturer at Stanford University School of Medicine's Center for Biomedical Ethics and Human Biology.

Dr. Franzblau's course is made possible by the generous support of Gunter Kahn, M.D.