Overview

Clinical Ethics: Debates, Decisions, Solutions Ethical challenges facing health professionals have never been more important or more numerous. This program emphasizes the theme of ethics and pediatrics, as well as end-of-life care, education and other issues. From the role of ethics committees to controversies in public policy, it is clear that bioethics – and bioethics education – must be assigned the greatest possible roles in the daily lives of individual professionals and their institutions.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of this program, participants will:

- Have a better understanding of the role and importance of bioethics in clinical and institutional decision making, especially regarding pediatrics, end-of-life care, ethics education and other topics.
- Be better able to identify ethical challenges and issues in clinical practice, public policy, health law and the role of institutional ethics committees.
- Be better able to articulate ethically optimized solutions in clinical and social contexts.

Audience

This course is designed for nurses, physicians, social workers, lawyers, clergy, psychologists, health administrators, philosophers and others with an interest in or a need for continuing education in health ethics.

Accreditation

The University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to sponsor continuing medical education for physicians.

Faculty Disclosure

The University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine, in accordance with accreditation requirements, will disclose any significant financial interest or other relationship with the manufacturer(s) of any commercial product(s) and/or provider(s) of commercial services discussed in an educational presentation and with any commercial supporters of the activity.

Credit Hours

The University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine designates this activity for a maximum of 6.75 category 1 credits toward the AMA Physician's Recognition Award. Each physician should claim only those hours of credit that he/she actually spent in the educational activity.

Psychologists

The University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine is an APA-approved internship program. This program is acceptable for a maximum of 6.75 credit hours for Florida psychologists.

About UM's Ethics Programs

The University of Miami Ethics Programs include the Bioethics Program, the Business Ethics Program and the Pan American Bioethics Initiative.

The programs are dedicated to education, research and community service.

The University of Miami offers a wide range of courses and special programs in professional ethics, and UM ethics faculty are available for community training and consulting efforts in health, business and government ethics, and corporate compliance.

Contributions to support the nonsectarian, nonpartisan mission of the Ethics Programs are welcome and provide an unparalleled opportunity to support Florida ethics education and community programs. Please consider a contribution, or call for more information or to schedule a meeting.

About the Florida Bioethics Network

The Florida Bioethics Network is dedicated to the understanding and resolution of ethical and legal problems arising in health care and research in Florida's hospitals, hospices, nursing homes, managed care organizations and teaching institutions.
