From public health surveillance of Internet sex chat rooms to on-line descriptions of pharmaceutical trials, the World Wide Web has emerged as both a research venue and a research tool. Ethical issues in cyberspace often appear as a result of novel twists to standard concerns: privacy and confidentiality, risk-benefit assessment and valid consent.

Ken Goodman is a director of the University of Miami's Ethics Programs.

Dialogues in Research Ethics is a series of monthly conferences. For more information, phone 305-243-5723, write to Campus Box M-825 or send E-mail to ethics@miami.edu
